This new 400 page book from 2009 covers over 200 additional healing stones, including recently revealed Greenland stones. It begins with a 4-page alphabetical listing of stones by name and their Corresponding page number. There are introductory pages on crystal vibrations, crystal history, crystal structure, crystal protection, and the Greenland stones in pages 10 through 33, one of which is Nuummite. (I have a piece wrapped in silver and paired with topaz. My friend Jay, who wraps my stones for me, said the Nuummite kind of wrapped itself in her hands, and it did a beautiful job.
Interestingly, it wrapped itself in a beautiful Victorian setting, something Jay has never done before.
"Coincidentally," Nuummite is said to be one of the oldest materials on Earth.) The crystal directory begins on page 35. Beautiful good-quality colored pictures of the stones, many shown in both raw and tumbled/polished form (which look very different), as well as some in crystal form: Botswana, Crackled Fire Agate, Alexandrite, Astrophyllite, Cacoxenite, Golden Danburite, Eudialyte, etc. And there are many I have never heard of before: Agrellite, Blood of Isis, Calligraphy Stone, Datolite, Fulgarite, Kakortokite, to name a few. An example is a 2 page spread on Merlinite, shown as both a shaped raw piece and a polished cabochon.
